

Temporary Disabling of Registration Process

Thursday, 01 December 2011 10:27

Unfortunately due to a large number of spam bots targeting our website, the User Registration process has been disabled temporarily until updates can be applied.

For those currently wanting to place orders, you will need to manually enter your details in for each order, no account will be registered on our site at this time.

We apologise for this inconvenience but previous Catchpa solutions were creating issues with registration and were not blocking the Spam Bots.

If you have any queries or difficulties placing an order, please send us an email and we will respond to your issue.
